committee from the Chamber of Commerce, and every indication points to a record-breaking attendance. The chief feature of the entertainment will be a day at the famous Curl's Neek Farm on invitation of the proprietor, Mr. Charles H. Senff. This farm is regarded as perhaps the best equipped and the most elaborately operated plantation in Virginia, if not in the East.

Mr. George W. Bidell, the manager of the farm, through whose efforts the plantation has risen to its present productive value, will act as the host of the occasion. With the large attendance that is anticipated two steamers have been engaged for the trip down the river to Curl's Neck. Refreshments and music will be furnished on each boat.

On one evening during the convention all the farmers and their wives will be taken to Idlewood Park, where free admission to every attraction has been arranged for every member of Commerce could offer could be of more interest and enjoyment to the farmers than the trip to dilewood. The members of the reception committee will be constantly on hand to see that every comfort is provided. Subcommittees have been appointed by General Chairman Henry W. Wood, as follows: Cigars and Refreshments—Messrs. Robert Lecky, T. M. Carrington and John A. Moncure.

Music—Messrs. Charles P. Lee, Albert C. Diggs and E. D. Starke.

Applications from all the business interests of the city which have business relations with the farmers are coming in for representation on the reception committee. Business Manager Dabney, of the Chamber of Commerce, will hold the list open until July 22d for those who wish membership on the committee. The institute meets August 4th, 5th and 6th.
